

Contract Management Professionals:

Do you really know who you're doing business with?

Which of these is true of a major US buyout firm that owns companies with hundreds of government contracts?

- A. Is partly owned by a government-controlled entity from Abu Dhabi, in the United Arab Emirates?
- B. Loads up companies with extremely high levels of risky debt?
- C. Is not required to provide certain important business information to the public or the SEC?
- D. All of the above.

The correct answer is: D. The Carlyle Group buyout firm has numerous companies with lucrative government contracts in its portfolio, including Allison Transmission, ARINC and AxleTech.

Get all the answers before you award contracts. Visit www.CarlyleExposed.com for more information on the Carlyle Group and the companies it owns.